Inspiration for this article is from the magazine: TEACHER In the Church Today, March 1990. "Dandelions" by Larry F Beman

This is why I believe dandelions should replace the Easter lily as the official flower of Easter. I am part of an unfunded, highly disorganized group of people who tell the virtues of the dandelion wherever we go. (This group does not meet, pays no dues and has no mailing address. We don't even necessary know each other. We just believe in dandelions.)

The dandelion is the perfect flower for Easter; it reminds me of the meaning of Easter. Easter is time for retelling the story of Resurrection, discovering the power of life that is among us.

DANDELIONS APPEAR IN THE MOST SURPRISING PLACES: the crack of a broken pavement or cement, along a curb, beside the porch, a well-kept garden or well manicured lawn. God's surprises of life can appear in impossible places too: the middle of a routine day, during s storm of life, in the excitement of a new beginning. God make not appear on my consciousness at the times I deem most appropriate, but God does come! God is with me whether I am aware or not. God surprise me in ways I would not think possible. Just like the dandelion.

DANDELIONS HAVE DEEP ROOTS. Unless you plan to plant a tree in the hole you dig while trying to pull a dandelion out by its roots, you better not start. This little yellow flower has deep roots. They remind me of the One who calls out, "Come to me, and I will refresh you." Resurrection invites us to plant our roots deep in the soil of the One who is beyond time and gives us s glimpse if eternity. Resurrection bids us to immerse ourselves in the fertile soil of grace. Then we are to grow out of our grounding so we can offer light and refreshment to those who labor and are heavy laden. Resurrection reminds us that our roots are to be planted so deep that they can never be removed, just like a dandelion!

DANDELIONS GIVE GOOD NOURSHIMENT. I've been told wilted dandelion greens make a tasty meal. Easter is a time to remember that we are forever being nourished by the Bread of Life. We are fed by God who cares for us when everything seems gray, when we are hurried and harried, when growing and stretching and learning new things. We are sustained by the One who walked beside the two on the Emmaus road. Resurrection reminds me and gives me strength to go one. Just like a dandelion.

DANDELIONS CAN NOT BE KILLED. Have you noticed how well you grass grows? Chances are your dandelions grow even better. The dandelions regroup and show off their yellow determination within hours. I can't kill them even if I tried. The Crucifixion is a reminder of how people attempt to kill God's love. Jesus was put on a cross because he was too threatening to those in authority. Resurrection tells us that God's love can never be eliminated, no matter how threatening it may become. God's love cannot be killed. Just like the dandelion.

DANDELIONS SPREAD SEEDS. I've never counted the number of seeds on the puffy white cloud of a dandelion. I know there are more than a few. When we gently hold the stem and blow the seeds float away. Some land in our own yard, others in the neighbors, still others fly away to distant places. Dandelions know how the spread seeds so that other plants will take root and grow and create new surprises. The resurrection story is a story of empowerment. A group of numb and disheartened women and men suddenly were given strength to shout for joy. They never stopped. They spread seeds across the Middle East and the Mediterranean. They continued to blow across Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America. Blossoms of faith appeared on every continent on the planet earth. The seeds are still spreading. Children, youth and adults are hearing good news. People are experiencing rebirth and renewal. These seeds that are spreading are spiritual. Easter is a time for spreading seeds of life. Just like the dandelion.

DANDELIONS GROW IN MY BACKYARD. I don't have to go far to find a dandelion. All I have to do is go outside and look around. Dandelions are growing in my backyard! Resurrection is personal. It is a one on one reminder that God loves us more that we can ever imagine. God offers us an opportunity to discover life in all its richness and in all its eternity. Resurrection grows in my backyard. Just like a dandelion. So when you see a dandelion, be reminded of God's presence and God's love.

"Making a Difference: Following your Passion and Finding your Place to Serve", author James A Harnish helps United Methodists answer questions "How can I become a part of God's healing work in this World?" and "How can I find my place to serve and make a difference?" Drawing upon biblical wisdom and the stories of real people who have found their place to serve, he provides inspiring and practical guidance to help every disciple find a place to serve and participate in making God's kingdom a reality in this life. In the videos that accompany the study, he is joined by four dynamic Christian leaders – Nick Cunningham, Lindsey Krinks, DJ del Rosario, and Lisa Yebuah – who engage in lively discussions related to the opportunities and outcomes of making a difference in the world.

This study is perfect for anyone desiring to take a next step in discipleship and engage in God's work of transformation in the world.

This six week study will be held on Sunday Evenings, beginning on April 15 at 6:00pm. All are encouraged to attend. Please sign up by 4/8/18 so we can order enough books.

There is a legend, that at the time of the crucifixion the dogwood has been the size of the oak and other forest trees. So firm and strong was the tree that it was chosen as the timber for the cross. To be used thus for such a cruel purpose greatly distresses the tree, and Jesus, nailed upon it, sensed this and in His gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering said to it: "Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used as a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender and bent and twisted and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross – two long and two short petals. And in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be a nail prints, brown with rust and stained with red, and in the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns, and all who see it will remember...
